Are you readers movie freaks? Do you want to give info to your local visitor about movies currently rolling at the cinemas?

If you have CMS based site powered by Joomla, you might be tempted to create a module or component which will request current active movie listings in cinemas and then display it on your web page. Does joomla integrated solution already exist?

Introducing Movies, a custom joomla 1.0.x component which is made to show current local movies near your area. By typing your US zipcode, it will retrieve current active movie listings in cinemas within your zipcode. Each record has links to buy tickets at imdb so that one can make sure he won't miss the show.

This component is originally made for MetroJackson and has commercial license. If you want to have this script installed on your site, please contact me at info [at] amikelive{dot}com
